

Light Roast _____

COSTA RICA

Our light roast is a smooth coffee, almost like a tea. It has an aroma of roasted nuts and a sweet aftertaste similar to toasted almonds.

COLOMBIA

This is what you may consider as a traditional New England cup of coffee. Not too dark, not too light with a great coffee flavor.

Medium Roast _____

HOUSE BLEND

A wonderful blend of Central and South American beans keep your taste buds hopping. This coffee has a great roasted flavor upfront, however it quickly turns to a savory smooth sweetness. Then, when you think it is over, a nice earthen aftertaste rises to the surface. Leaving you longing for another sip.

BURUNDI

Burundi is a consistent crowd pleaser. The first sip has a robust taste, but it quickly gives way to a sweet flowery flavor.

SULAWESI

This coffee has a wonderful balance. A mild roast flavor with some earthiness. It is smooth, yet has a good amount of body.

Dark Roast _____

SUMATRA

This is a wonderful French roast. It has a good amount of volume, plus a bold lingering smoky flavor.

MIDNIGHT OIL

Our own global blend of dark roasts. Bold and dark with a roasted walnut flavor and a very smooth finish.

PERU

This bean can take the heat, so we take it to a French roast. It has a robust roasted flavor with a dry finish.

ROBUSTA

Robusta beans contain about three times the amount of caffeine as an Arabica bean. Robusta coffee is not much on flavor, however if you need an extra kick they do the trick. Try blending your favorite coffee with 25% Robusta or if you are bold enough, try it straight.

Decaf _____

DECAF SUMATRA SWP

This bean was decaffeinated by using the Swiss Water Process. It holds a mellow roast flavor well into a French roast. It is particularly suited for those who desire to have their coffee undergo a more natural process of decaffeination and still maintain the bean's natural flavor.

DECAF HONDURAS SWP

A nice well balanced coffee with a smooth and creamy texture. It has a full coffee flavor with hints of molasses.
